Ambassador in Message Sent Jan. 22, Last, Now Made Public by Secretary Lansing, Suggested Official German Declaration in Favor of Ireland.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.-Secretary Lansing today made public an astounding addition to the series of disclosures covering German intrigues in America, and elsewhere, a message sent by Count von Bernstorff, in January of this year, when he was Ambassador here, to the Berlin Foreign Office, requesting authority to pay out $50,000 to influence Congress through an unnamed organization, apparently known to the Berlin authorities.

Count von Bernstorff indicated in his message that money had been paid this organization on former occasioons to perform the The text of the statement given out without comment, follows:

"The Secretary of State issues the following message from Ambassador von Bernstorff to the Berlin Foreign Office, dated 'I request authority to pay out up to $50,000 in order, as on former occasions, to influence Congress through the organization you know of which can perhaps prevent war. "'I am beginning in the meantime to act accordingly. "'In above circumstances a public official German declaration in favor of Ireland is highly desirable, in order to gain the support of Irish influence here." "The publisher of the Post-Dispatch is to be congratulated on his foresight in providing these model quarters for the men who set the type for his newspaper. It is a safe assertion to state that no newspaper publisher in America has constructed a more sanitary, comfortable and complete composing room that was Mr. Pulitzer in the new Post-Dispatch building. The humane consideration of the employer for the comforts of the employe is evidenced throughout this department, which is so superbly ventilated that the health of the worker is fully safe-

"One feature of this composing room particularly impresses the newspaper printer. There is such an abundance of material with which to construct the display features of the Post-Dispatch that the big and little cusswords, so essential to proper workmanship when quads, spaces and sorts are lacking, will fall into disuse in the Post-Dispatch composing room. Mr. Pulitzer has made a place where the giving of efficient service-will not be a disagreeable task.

New Story of Deceit Related in Letter From Dr. Veeder, With St. Louis Hospital Unit.

Dr. Norman Veeder of the medical staff of Base Hospital Unit 21 of the American Red Cross (the St. Louis unit), at Rouen, France, in a letter printed in the September isue of the Missouri State Medical Association, tells a new story of the deceit practiced on Germans regarding the facts of the war.

"Maj. Fischel and I attended the sick call at a German compound" (camp of German prisoners), Dr. ment, and learned from the commanding officer next day that it was ecause it was the first time the Germans had known America was on the allies' side. They had heard we were in the war, but had been the United States Medical Supply led to believe we were with the Germans. In telling of the crossing of the English Channel by the St. Louis unit, Dr. Veeder wrote that two boats were torpedoed the same night while crossing the channel, but that ooth "limped home." He adds that nospital ships are painted gray, and carry no insignia, "as a result of the Germans' ,taste for the Red Cross." He remarks that the nurses of the unit are generally called "sisters," and that they show a decided dislike for this name.

Gas Shells Kill 10 Miles Away. Describing the medical work, he

'We have twice the capacity of the St. Louis City Hospital. We receive and send out large convoys of sick and wounded—keeping patients only so long as is absolutely necessary. There is a continual and constant changing of patients (usually at night, by the way). Much of the work is minor and usual, but some ypes of disease are new and distinctly military.

"We are the 'shell-shock' hospital, and Schwab has had good opportunity to study these cases, which are among the most interesting and perplexing. We get a great many cases of 'trench fever,' which, as you know, is in all probability a spirochete infection. It has an intermit-tent febrile course, and the patients suffer a great deal of 'bone pain.'

"At present we are going in squads to the 'gas school,' where we are taught how to wear our respirators and go through chambers and trenches filled with gas that will kill after two or three minutes' exoosure. Just now gas is a big factor at the front—gas shells being used that kill 10 miles behind the line.

Early Peace Not Expected. Of course, one sees but a very little part of the 'show,' when situated as we are, and it is hard to grasp the whole status, but it is not the feeling here that the war will be over very soon, and we will be happily disappointed if thousands of Americans do not have to come over. Ships, food and money will by no means do for our part. I doubt if the American medical man fully realizes the demands that will be made of him. Every one will have to get ready to do his bit.

We are all well and happy and the adjustment and taking over of the British hospital has been re-markably smooth. What shall beome of us—that is, whether we are o be kept here, broken up and sent the front, or transferred to the American troops—no one has the slightest idea. One thing you rapidy learn is that one has no choice anything. You do as you are told and you are never told why or con-

PEKING, Sept. 21.—Dr. George E Morrison, political adviser to the Chinese Government, has sold his fanous Chinese library to Baron Iwasaki, a Japanese millionaire. The purchase price was $175,000 gold, and the library is to be removed from Peking to Tokio within six

Repeated efforts have been made to get the Chinese Government to buy this famous collection of books and place it at the disposal of the public, but Chinese officials did not appreciate the value of keeping such a library in China and permitted the Japanese to buy it over their heads. Dr. Morrison had been collecting the library, which contains over 20, 000 volumes, for more than 20 years. The books are in many languages other than Chinese, and all relate to

China and Chinese subjects.

There are many famous old editions in the Morrison collection. It is especially rich in rare editions of the works of Marco Polo. It contains a copy of the first Latin edition of his travels and also a copy of the first Italian edition of the same work printed in 1495. There are also 15 other editions of Marco Polo works bearing dates prior to 1700. Dr. Morrison sold his library under an agreement that it is be kept intact and called the George E. Morrison Library. The letter in which these plans were discussed did not mention the means to be used. It did, however, face, neck, arms and hands it really does clear, smoothen and beautify the skin amazingly.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little ounces of or torney Dooling considers information

Mrs. Foraker appeared both sur-prised and angry when, a few min-utes after she had entered Mr. Dooling's office, the following document was shown to her:

"I will be ready to join all of you there just as soon as I have settled once and for all and finally Buster (Mrs. Foraker), and let me impress upon all'of you the importance of putting a quietus on Buster forever, which I will have to do before I get away from — —. All of you can keep in touch with me as per the above address and will know exactly what to do to meet any emergencies at any time of the day or night."

It was one of the individuals referred to as "knowing what to do" who sent several telegrams within a few hours after Mrs. King died, the Prosecutor said. Mrs. Foraker needed no other stimulus than the letter to make her a valuable witness. Much that she said the Prosecutor refused to reveal.

Light on Gambling.

However, he did let it be known hat she had thrown a good deal of light on the gambling that took place the Park avenue apartment of

She said she had frequently shaken lice there, and, like Mrs. King, she was always a loser. She lost more than $3000 at a single sitting and said Mrs. King frequently lost much larger amounts than this.

The letter referring to Mrs. Foraker will be one of the important documents that Dooling will take to Concord this afternoon, when he goes to be present at the second inquest Monday into Mrs. King's death. He will be accompanied by Dr. Otto H. Schultze, medical assistant to the District Attorney, and Capt. Jones, pistol expert of the Police Department.

One of the curious things that came to light yesterday among the papers recovered from the apartment of Gaston B. Means was a list, partly in typewriting and partly in longhand, containing information about wealthy persons who were dead. Suits & Topcoats There were 19 names on the list and after each was a notation such as

"Wealthy," or "Very wealthy."
A number of curious letters came to light yesterday. One of them, which it was thought might have some bearing on the "second will" of Mr. King, the authenticity of which is questioned, reads as follows:

"I suggest that you look at the watermark on any paper of import-

Dooling said he had finally obtained the typewriter on which this will was written. Apparently it was bought in Concord and shipped to New York. As the will was dated in Dooling wants to learn the date of the typewriter manufacture of its purchase.

Worked for Germany.

More evidence of the interest which Gaston Means had in Germany came to light yesterday. One letter, written by him in May, 1916, reads as follows:
"I was at Norfolk with -- and for the purpose of learning in the interest of the German Govern-ment whether the English men-ofwar hovering off Norfolk were to being supplied contrary to international law with provisions, coal, etc.' There was also a letter written to Means in which the following ap-or some other German friend.' Dooling also examined a broker-name not disclosed—from another city, who told of the heavy losses sustained last February in the "W. R. P." account, "when cotton dropped 35 points. This account, into which more than $100,000 had. been put, was wiped out at the time. Henry Deutsch, father-in-law of Afton Means and formerly Gaston Means' confidential man, had a long interview with Dooling yesterday.

Only about a dozen persons were Only about a dozen persons were in the hall at first. As many more entered later, most of them worshipers, but some open scoffers. The devotions began with complete silence. The audible praying was started by the woman kneeling by the altan Repititions of "Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord!" and "Hallelujah! Hallelujah!" constituted the greater part of her prayer, although at intervals she lamented her short-comings and implored spiritual aid.

As the meeting progressed the praying became a continuous relay, one taking up where another left off. At times the pastor, in a powerful, vibrant bass voice, led a chant in which some particular phrase, as "Praise the Lord," "Amen, Lord," "Hallelujah," or just "Glory, Glory Glory," was repeated time and again with varied inflections. This was the earest approach to singing.

At times their bodies trembled with enseness. They clapped their hands and pounded the floor with thei: feet. Suddenly the preacher began to cry out in Italian. He explained later in his sermon that after his conversion he was "baptized with the Holy Ghost and strange tongues and suddenly spoke in Italian, although he did not know a word of the language before."

The height of the praying was reached with the "casting out of devils." The pastor suddenly shout-

"Come out! Come out, you devil: Come out, sir! in the name of Jesus, come out!" This was repeated many times, varied by "Loose, you devil! Loose!" and "Go, sir, go!" The physical demonstrations began when "Brother Phillip," a thin young man, got up on the carpeted area, about 12 feet square, and began circling in the manner of an old Indian dance, all the time shouting "Glory. Glory!" He went faster and faster After several minutes he pulled off and became warmer and warmer his coat, without stopping his dance. His speed became greater and greater until after 15 or 20 minutes he was whirling dizzily on one foot with arms outstretched and perspiration streaming down his face, so—nearly exhausted that his shouts of glory had become faint whispers. # FRANCE URGED TO Jewels, Pleasure Cars and Titles Would Bear Burden of Increasing Revenue.

$20,000 TO BE A PRINCE

Additional $10,000 to Be Called His Highness;" $100 Annually for Using Preposition "de."

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 1.—A movement is on foot in France to make the vanidebt. Ten per cent on the purchase price of luxuries, proposed by the Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies and approved by the Government, doesn't go far enough to suit a good many.

Motor cars used for touring and sport and horses used for pleasure driving and racing ought, they think, to pay an annual tribute to the treasury. Gold ornaments, pearls, precious stones and rich furs and. generally, everything worn that con-stitutes evidence of ease and luxury ought to pay an annual tax, they hold, since the tax payable at the time of purchase would not reach the billions of francs worth of jewels and gold already in private hands. The reply to this proposition is that an annual tax on such things would amount to partial suppression; the rejoinder is that there will, then, oe a gain anyway in the direction of nomy and the simple life.

Among the vanities aimed at are titles of nobility, which offer an enormous opportunity for revenue. A moderate tax upon assumed an i usurped titles alone would bring in a respectable number of millions, it is claimed. Genuine titles, paying 2 for heavier tax, would though far numerous, bring in quite as Could Produce Big Revenue.

The discussion of this proposition has been a revelation to many good democrats who had overlooked the fact that the feudal institution of nobility still exists under the Third Republic, and who were not aware that the republic has actually made a little money out of it and could have made a lot more, and that Pres-ident Poincare, if he saw fit, could quite legally make as many Dukes, Marquises, Counts, Barons and Knights as there are vain souls willing to make it worth while.

Occasionally a real noble who wants to make his title clear offers the Treasury the established accession fee. The Government accepts the money timidly, as if, in so doing. it became a sort of an accomplice after the fact. The Duke de la Roche-foucauld paid the Treasury an in-vestiture fee of 5150 francs ($1080) about 15 years ago, under a decree of the restoration fixing investitude fees at 5150 francs for a Duke, 2075 francs for a Marquis or a Count, 1408 francs for a Viscount, 1075 francs for a Baron and 45 francs for

There are thousands of persons that precede their names with the preposition "de," who have never decided in their own minds whether they ought to pass as Dukes on noth-ing but Knights; the preposition ing but Knights; the preposition looks well on a visiting card and that is enough for them. Why shouldn't these people pay for the satisfaction of their vanity is the question that is asked.

a Knight.

Four attempts have been made to abolish titles since the adoption of the present Constitution, and as many to tax them more heavily. One schedule of annual title taxes proposed by Emile Moreaux, Deputy from Little, was: Prince, 100,000 francs ($20,000); Prince with the additional title of his highness. 250,000 francs; Duke, 50,000 francs; Duke with the additional title of his highness, 200,000 francs; Marquir, 30,000 francs; Count, 20,000 francs; Viscount, 10,000 francs; Baron, 5000 francs; Knight, 1000 francs; the use of the simple preposition before the name, 500 francs annually.

Towns Might Sell Their Names.
A proposed amendment provided that any commune, hamlet, village or town, the name of which was taken to make a title of nobility could exact a tax on its own account. Another went much farther and proposed that communes and towns could offer their names to the high. est bidder for the purpose.

The present movement doesn't go so far. It simply asks that, if titles are to be tolerated, the holder should pay amply for the privilege, as do more modest citizens for other priva

BI HENRI BAZIN,

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD (by official couries to Paris post), Aug. 29 .- On my way back to American field headquarters from Paris, where I had gone upon a special professional errand, I made wide detour and went by way of Verdun. I know Verdun of old and have seen it in all weathers this last year, and it is to my infinite regret that circumstances prevented my being there in the days when "They shall not pass" was first incorporated within the language of the world Now, I have been compensated. I could write a book about the experiences of the last 16 hours. Here there is but the attempted portrayal

At night it had been raining, and this morning when the rain ceased, the leaves upon nearly all the trees bordering the Meuse showed as if by miracle a yellowing tinge of au-tumn. For during the most of August the rainfall has been constant and the atmosphere as of late Octo-ber. The earth is as if soaked with water and the mud is as slippery as

We were but two, a French officer and myself. With every step there was the sucking sound of bootheel withdrawn from suction. We had been walking a full hour silently bugh a bayou with nothing bu mud before us, mud under us, and a gray, gray sky overhead. A turn in he trench, and its slightly higher of a familiar yet always unreal land scape, a landscape of nothing else but shell craters partially or com-pletely water-filled, new craters and old craters, one displacing the other.
Beyond lay our objective, Hill 304, the Hill of History, the hill sur-mounting the city that a million years from now will rank higher than Thermopylae. Months ago I had looked upon 304 through the glass while the Boche still held it. Now. as I visioned it at closer range, it seemed lower, and it was red, the red of a dried, coagulated mass of od. Out of the bayou we now made our way, still in silence, through the cratered earth, for it was an hour when words would have seemed as mocking things. I noticed instance after instance that Dante did not mention in his Inferno only because he had no conception of Dead With Smiling Faces.

At my side, near enough to touch Il had I reached out my hand, I saw a German helmet covering a dead head, a head showing a blackened, sardonically smiling face. Beyond ig as if from nowhere out of the martyred soil, a pair of hands, crisp and dead, and livid. One held a revolver. And but a little distance away the half-fleshed skele-ton of a Prussian guard that a shell had uplifted from its rest in the grave, and thrown, as if mockingly, upon the surface.

"Three hundred and four" is truly a vast, vast German cemetery. As I remembered the reddish color I have mentioned as noting from a distance, it flashed across me that the color was true, for the soil was genuinely soaked in blood and its genuinely soaked in blood and its nature of reddish clay but a weak synonym of true substance. The dead are as close upon it as dried peas in a bag. One sees the places where they were buried months ago, the places where shell-fire has disinterred them, the places where they are newly interred, and each grave rubs the other, forms part of the other, the whole hill an immense, ill-smelling charnel house. It beg gars description.

Upon the very top of the hill there is an admirable observation pointan observation point that the Boche had held long and finally lost, after sacrificing thousands and thousands of his own, and—more's the pity! many and many a son of France. From the point of its greatest height I saw Forges Brook, the villages of Haucourt and Malancourt and Beth-incourt, with other villages beyond and the valley command German-occupied Montfaucon, rising in the distance like a beacon light upon the shores of the sea.

Ravine of Death.

We turned and went forward through the open for a little and around the hilltop by way of Hayste to the Ravine of Death, there of France wrested territory and victory from the forces of evil. In the rain that was now falling the bottom o that was now falling the bottom of the ravine was a succession of pools that here and there joined each other, so that in totality they seemed a strangely formed lake of reddish water. Save for our splashing, there was the silence of death about us, while overhead we could hear the constant song of passing shell. It was profoundly contrasting, as if we were in the midst of a wet sepulcher, a place where life had lived its last hour and passed.

We had scarcely spoken during the

It's the new idea; mil-1 itary touches in sport suits. The new Hart Schaffner & Marx designs we are showing are unusually smart; all-around belts, patch pockets, plaits, yokes; in all the best all-wool fabrics and colorings. Older men wear these styles too. Models are provided for everybody.

Military overcoats

You see one on the young man in the picture; the styles that young men want; the free and easy draping, the big patch pockets, belts allaround, pockets, plaits at the back. These are just a few of the many ideas in these smart overcoats. The prices are low considering the high quality.

The right clothes for men of affairs

HartSchaffner&Marx make them of allwool materials and put the correct style touches into them. Sizes and models are designed for all figures; stout men, medium stout men, very large, heavy men, very slender men, men slightly stooped---in fact, any man who thinks he is hard to fit will find just the clothes he is looking for at this store.

You get the tailoring and quality you pay twice as much for at a good tailor's. You can see how the clothes look on you before you buy, and you don't take them unless they satisfy you completely.

Clothes satisfaction for everybody in Hart Schaffner & Marx fine clothes

SATISFACTION is all you want when you buy anything, isn't it? Satisfaction is enough. Everybody talks about it in advertising, because it's what everybody wants to get. We want to give it.

We try to protect ourselves with the best merchandise we can find, with capable, trustworthy men who are devoted to the interests of our customers as well as to ours; with service policies; and then we protect you with our guarantee of absolute satisfaction.

Uniforms for Army Officers

You want the best value in a uniform that you can find—all-wool fabrics, good fit and fine tailoring. We'll give you these things in Hart Schaffner & Marx regulation uniforms and regulation overcoats. The best values to be found. The newest styles in hats

We've equipped ourselves with the newest and best hats this season--styles that will look good to you. Swagger novelties for the snappy young men. Prices $2.50 up

Highest Prices in Years Obtained, Say Farmers, Participating in Creve Coeur Exhibition.

The outstanding feature of the St. Louis County Fair at Upper Creve Coeur Lake yesterday was a display of agricultural products that emonstrated that St. Louis County produces a great diversity of crops and that the county farmers responded patriotically to the country's demand for greater food production.

The farmers came to the fair in automobiles yesterday. As they gathered around their exhibits they discussed the prices they expect to get for their potatoes and other products sent to the St. Louis market and the possibility of the tractor being the stories of profits this year ought to popularize the "back to the land" movement. George F. Miller of Creve Coeur, Mo., who is known as the "potato king" of St. Louis County of the Coeur of the Co ty, with an exhibit of 32 varieties of potatoes, 13 varieties of corn, and his 90-pound pumpkins told of growing 1500 bushels of wheat on 42 acres of land and 300 bushels of potatoes to the acre. He sold his potatoes at $1.40 to $1.60 a bushel, yielding from $420 to $480 an acre, and his wheat at $2.40 a bushel, before Food Administrator Hoover fixed the price at $2.20 a bushel. His income from wheat slightly exceeded $85 an acre.

Crops Worth More Than Land. By turning under a crop of clover and giving his land an additional dressing of barnyard fertilizer, Miller grew potatoes of which 15 from two hills filled a peck measure. His corn averaged 75 bushels to the acre. The ears he is exhibiting are 12 and 13 inches long, 60 of them making a bushel.

The land on which these crops was grown possesses a natural rich-Miller values his 120-acre tract at $22,000-$183.33 an acre. The value of his potato crop this vear was almost twice the value of the land on which it was grown. He has sold 500 bushels and has 600 bushels in reserve. Farmers at the fair said they had heard of renters who had bought the farms with the proceeds of the crops produced this

One farmer who rented land in the Creve Coeur Lake bottoms at $8 an acre harvested 54 bushels of wheat to the acre, and an average of four tons of alfalfa to the acre. The wheat and the alfalfa crops were each worth more than $100 an acre. Farm lands in St. Louis County vary in value from $80 an acre to $500 an acre, with an average price of $300 an acre in such sections as the Florissant Valley. Some farmers refuse to sell their farms at any price because they are near St. Louis mar kets, have the use of good roads and

The farmers say there never were such wheat and corn crops in St. Louis County as this year. Every acre that can be spared from other crops will be sown in wheat this fall. Next week thousands of grain drills will be seen on county farms sowing wheat for next year's harvest. It is estimated that there was an increase of 20 per cent in acreage this year, and that it will be greater next year.

Numerous Varieties of Crops Pro-duced.
Some idea of the variety of crops produced in the county may be gained from this list of exhibits at the fair: John Kinker of Creve Coeur, 20 varieties of large, perfectly developed apples; Jacob Studt, Creve Coeur, 15 varieties of squash: C. Ruder, Affton, superintendent of the agricultural division of the fair a collection of every farm and garden product, including 40 varieties of grapes; Dr. W. John Harris, Fenton, apples; S. G. Harbison, Clayton, 120-pound pumpkins; Thomas Mitchell, Creve Coeur, squash, and William Brockman, black Spanish winter radishes, larger than the average

There were small exhibits of wheat, oats, rye and vegetables and fruits, except peaches. The peach crop was a failure in St. Louis County this year. In addition to the crops produced by the farmers, thousands of suburban dwellers cultivated gardens and raised enough potatoes and vegetables to supply their summer tables and practically all of their winter needs. An exhibit of fine home-canned goods shows that the St. Louis County women have been quick to respond to the advice of the Government to can and dry fruits and vegetables.

Livestock Exhibit Small. The livestock exhibit is small, but of quality. Edwin A. Lemp has an exhibit of imported Ayershire cat-tle. The high price of pork encour-aged the breeders of hogs to make exhibits. One of the exhibitors is O.F. Fry of Kinloch, a negro, whose father, Orange F. Fry of Danville, Ky., has made a fortune raising fine hogs, and is the only negro member of the National Berkshire Association. Fry is exhibiting a Berkshire 18 months old, which weighs 550 pounds and which is the sire of $550 pounds and which is the sire of $550 worth of pigs sold this year. Fry-has several Berkshire pigs, three and a half months old, weighing 125 pounds, which he values at $400 to $600 each. Other hog breeders represented are E. E. Doss, Ellesville, Chester Whites; L. M. Fish, Bolivar, Duroc Jerseys and Chester Whites, and Ben Wirth of Altenheim, Poand China hogs and Jersey and Hol- MEMBER OF THE RED CROSS

The attendance at the opening day of the fair was not large, because of inclement weather and the busy scaon on the farm. The fair will continue today, tomorrow and Sunday.

There are exhibits of farm implements, including tractor cultivators, utility tractors, all kinds of labor saving farm tools, trucks especially adapted for farm purposes, automo-biles and women's handicraft work.

DESERTED WIVES RECEIVE SUPPORT BY NOVEL SCHEME

East St. Louis Humane Officer Uses Grand Jury as Club Over Derelict Husbands.

LABOR UNIONS HELP ALSO

rrested during the last eight months East St. Louis for wife and child abandonment are contributing to the support of their wives and children under the direction of J. K. Ewing. superintendent of the Humane Society, according to Ewing. The payments are made regularly, and are the result of a plan worked out by Ewing since he took the position

Previous to Ewing's appointment there was no organized plan for making delinquent husbands and fathers support their dependents. They could be fined or imprisoned, but that only made it harder for their women and children. Moreover, the men could not be arrested if they left the State.

How Ewing Works Scheme. Ewing's plan is as follows: Upon complaint by a deserted wife, Ewing obtains a warrant. If the man is ar rested and his guilt is plain, the Jusice holds him for the grand jury on $500 bond. The prisoner is told that if he will support his family the charge will be held up indefinitely, but that the first lapse on his par will result in the case going to the grand jury.

The difficulty of obtaining money from those who left the State was solved also. Ewing found that the labor unions almost always would force their members to send money to their families to preserve their good standing in the union. When they were not union men, Ewing communicated with their employers and laid the facts before them. There have been only a few instances where the employer did not co-operate.

A man recently abandoned his wife and two children and went to an aviation camp in Nebraska to work. Government officials were informed that his family was destitute and in less than a week he had made ar rangements to send weekly payments home. Another regular contributor is at Okmulgee, Ok., and there are are dozen in the small towns Southern Illinois.

A 61-year-old man applied to Ewing for aid Tuesday. His four daughters, all of whom were well-to-do, had refused to support him, he said, and he was prepared to enter the poorhouse. Ewing summoned the daughters to his office, and told them that an old Illinois law provides that children must support dependent parents. They were still defiant, so Ewing told them he would commit their father to the poorhouse and give the facts to the newspapers. They gave in immediately, and arranged to contribute $5 a month each o their father's support. Two of the daughters owned automobiles, Ewing

In a majority of cases the paylies, but several men pay directly to there for the money. The amounts to $15 a week.

AUSTRIAN RULER NEAR CAPTURE

Narrowly Escapes Italins While Visiting Trentino Front. GENEVA, Sept. 21.—An official Austrian telegram from Landeck, in the Tyrol, says Emperor Charles and staff visited the Alpine outposts of he Austrians in the Trentino and that his visit took place since Sept. 5. After crossing the huge Ortle Glacier on foot and also the Trafoier Glacier, whose summit the Italians possessed, the journey was continued on St. Elvio Pass, within 600 yards of the Italian trenches on the

A Lugana report, confirmed by swiss troops watching on St. Elvio Pass, states that the Emperor and his staff narrowly escaped capture because the Italian commander was informed by an aviator that many automobiles were in the vicinity.

The Italian troops thereupon attacked and captured an Alpine outpost, while the royal motor party fled down the St. Elvio route under machine gunfire. The party, how-ever, arrived safely at Prad and then proceeded to Meran.

GOVERNOR QUIETS MOB AT JAIL

Persuades Pursuers of Negro to Let Law Punish Prisoner. RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 21.—A mob of several hundred men attacked the jail here early today in an attempt to lynch a negro named Neville, accused of attacking the wife of street car conductor. Gov. Bickett arrived and addressed a portion of the mob while a masked leader was urging the greater portion to batter down the jall doors. Fifteen shots were fired before the state officials arrived, but apparently no one was

Primitive Side Develops.

The frightful upheaval of society in this present, anachronous war destroys, to a greater extent than any other war has ever done, the normal platform of security. Few are the men thrown into a different state of affairs who are able, according to the writer, to withstand the sense of insecurity. It wipes out individualiform of dependence, the absolute trust and obedience which marks the attitude of man to officer.

"Intellectual interest and zest become dulled and the outlook contracted to a trivial form of conversaion and pursuit, allowing play to the baser, the more primitive and emo tional side of the psychical life. The men are thrown back like children, unable to think and decide for them-selves. "It is not, however, all a back-ward thrust for the men who are leaving the stimulating pathways of active cultural life to enter this Well might our sense of security utterly fail where it so! The indomitable spirit which activates society on this side of the war zone enters that area also with the men. It may be stifled and shaken, but it keeps on its way. Out of it arises a fresh spirit of solidarity such as modern man at disappears, but in the words of another man in service there arises a collective individuality of which we form of confidence is born, a sort of courage even 'to enter upon the older racial types of behavior which characterize trench warfare.' There is calm resoluteness among the seasoned men which they have learned in their successful tests of the eneny's strength, and in their familar facing of death.

A "Self-Defensive" Fear. It is that primitive self-defensive fear to which the soldier is driven by the horrors into which he enters, that results finally in the bravery and courage which meet the tasks of war. We believe that these also, reborn into primitive conditions of conflict and the primitive reactions arising from them, will return the men to civil life with clarified vision of the actual worth of effort and of indiidual life and its place only as a fac-

For a Fair Street Railway Settlement

Nailing a Persistent Error as to Our Taxes

It seems desirable that public opinion with regard to the street railway settlement should be formed on accurate statements of fact. It seems especially desirable that civic reform societies and newspapers assuming to inform the public should avoid error, and that when they fall into an error they should on being informed of it promptly acknowledge and publicly correct it.

Some weeks ago a St. Louis civic reform society published what purported to be a comparative table showing taxes paid by street railways in the larger American cities. In that table it was stated that The United Railways Company pays only 6.35% of its gross carnings in taxes of all kinds.

We corrected that error in an advertisement showing that the City Government alone each year levies on this Company in various taxes more than 9% of our gross earnings and all other income.

In spite of that correction the society in question persists in publishing its erroneous statement. In order that there may be no doubt on this point, we here show you the exact amounts of this Company's gross earnings and other income, and of its total taxes paid for seven years past:

Year	Gross Earnings and Other Income	Total Taxes, Including $230,000 Yearly Average Paving Tax	Percentage
1910	$11,580,841	$ 885,531	7.6% plus.
1911	11,958,882	882,702	7.6% plus.
1912	12,316,008	882,222	7.6% plus.
1913	12,786,994	883,273	7.6% plus.
1914	12,538,825	997,793	7.9% plus.
1915	11,779,684	979,793	8.3% plus.
1916	12,723,882	2,826,842	22.2% plus.
Totals	$85,685,116	$8,338,196	9.7% plus.

In 1916, in addition to our usual taxes, we paid the City $1,839,205 of mill tax, covering the period from 1904 to 1910?

The City has suits pending to collect approximately $2,100,000 more of mill tax for the years since 1910.

The City insists that any settlement must provide for payment of every dollar of this $2,100,000 mill tax, and any additional mill tax that may accrue up to the day the Company formally accepts settlement ordinance.

Your City Government knowing that we can't dip water out of a spring any faster than the water runs into it, will presumably agree to let us pay this $2,100,000 of accrued mill tax and interest in ten equal yearly installments. It is true we have that amount and a little more in our treasury, but we need it to care for $3,500,000 of underlying bonds that come due eight months from now.

About $1,700,000 of that $2,100,000 covers mill tax and interest from 1910 to 1916 inclusive. Add that $1,700,000 to the $8,338,196 of taxes paid by this Company as above, and you get $10,038,196 as our total tax bill for those seven years.

This $10,038,196 is more than 11.7% of our gross earnings and other income for those years. The City's share of it, as we stated in an earlier advertisement, was more than 9%.

Anybody who tells you our $230,000 yearly average outlay for laying and repairing paving is not a tax utters an absurdity. This paving outlay IS a tax, because it is an expenditure enforced by your City Government, out of street railway earnings, FOR NON-STREET RAILWAY USES. Our vehicles are the only ones which do not use the paving that your car fares are taxed to pay for.

No legitimate business—least of all the street railway business with its constantly increasing costs and its fixed fare-can stand up under any such tax burden.

We don't know what your City Government WILL do, but we know, and we believe a great majority of the people of St. Louis now know, what it SHOULD do; it should abolish the mill tax hereafter, and the underlying franchise taxes, totaling about $480,000 a year, without levying as an offset a "profit-sharing" tax of $350,000 to $375,000 a year, as proposed, against "profits" which this system doesn't earn, never has earned and probably never will earn.

The City says it won't abolish the paving tax. The City's share of the general property tax levied by the State Board of Equalization on this Company runs about $430.000 a year. That added to the yearly average paving tax of $230,000, and other small odds and ends of taxes levied by the City, will run close to $700,000 a year. That would be 5.6% on our average yearly gross earnings of $12,500,000. County, State and Federal taxes would raise our rate well above 6%. That rate is higher than the average paid by American street railways.

We believe your City Government should tax us on that basis, and let us use the rest of the money it has been taking out of the fare boxes for better wages, more service, and a fair dividend return on the City's valuation of our property devoted to the public's use.

PRESIDENT'S INQUIRY TO INCLUDE I.W.W.TROUBLE

Personal Representatives to Investigate Shipyard Strikes in West Are Instructed in Note.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.-Members of the special commission ap-pointed by the President to investigate labor troubles in the West today are preparing to go to the Pacific Coast. In addition to the shipyard strikes, the committee will include in its inquiry recent deportation of workers and charges of the American Federation of Labor that Arizona employers subsidized I. W. novement.
The following memorandum from the President for the Secretary of Labor was made public:

"I am very much interested in the labor situation in the mountain region and on the Pacific Coast. have listened with attention and con cern to the numerous charges of mis-conduct and injustice that representatives of employers and employes have made against each other. am not so much concerned, how-ever, with the manner in which they have treated each other in the past as I am desirous of seeing some kind of working agreement arrived at for the future, particularly during the period of the war, on a basis that will be fair to all parties concerned.

To Visit Each Governor. "To assist in the accomplishment of that purpose, I have decided to appoint a commission to visit the localities where disagreements have been most frequent, as my personal representatives. The commission will consist of William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor; Col. J. L. Spangler of Pennsylvania; Verner Z. Reed of Colorado, John H. Walker of Illinois and E. P. Marsh of Washington. Felix

"It will be the duty of the commission to visit in each instance the Governor of the state, advising him that they are there as the personal representatives of the President with a view to lending sympathetic counsel and aid to the state government in the development of a better understanding between laborers and employers, and also themselves to deal with employers and em compose differences and allay for shipment in a tool chest.

BILL WOULD MAKE 600,000 ALIENS CITIZENS IN 3 MONTHS

Bureau of Naturalization Estimate 300,000 of These Men Are of Military Age.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—More than 600,000 aliens who have signifled their intention of becoming American citizens would be naturs'zed in three months under the terms of a bill introduced recently by Senator Calder of New York. Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Naturalization, made public to-day, show that between July 1, 1915 and June 30, 1917, 626,616 allens declared their intention of becoming citizens, but under the law a declar-ant cannot act upon his intention until the declaration is at least two

Under the alien draft bill, now pending in Congress, these aliens would be liable for military service thus relieving great numbers Americans, particularly in cities hav ing large foreign populations. The bureau estimates that about 300,000 of the aliens are of military age.

Operation on President in 1893 Was Kept Secret to Prevent Crisis.

DID NOT IMPAIR SPEECH

No Serious After-Effects and Even the Tone of His Voice Was Not Changed.

That President Grover Cleveland in the last 15 years of his life wore an artificial left jaw made of gutta percha is revealed in an article by Dr. W. W. Keen of Philadelphia in this week's Saturday Evening Post, an account of which was published in late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch. Further details are here

The operation was performed July 1, 1893, shortly after Cleveland's second inauguration. There were no serious after-effects and the rubber plate which took the place of the President's jaw was so skillfully fit-ted that it did not interfere with his speech, or even change the tone of his voice.

From time to time in the last 24 years there have been many controversies as to whether such an operation took place and whether, if perormed, it was of a serious nature.

Doctor Ends Controversy.

Dr. Keen, with the approval of Thomas J. Preston, formerly Mrs. Cleveland, puts to rest all spec-ulation by now making it known that President Cleveland was threatened with cancer of the mouth and that to stop the ravages of a malignant tumor an operation was performed by which almost all of Cleveland's left upper jaw was removed. This was done on the yacht Oneida, in the New York harbor.

The operation was performed by Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of New York, with the assistance of Dr. Keen and Dr. John F. Erdmann. Others present at the operation were Dr. E. G. Janeway, Dr. R. M. O'Reilly and Dr. Hasbrouk, a dentist. Drs O'Reilly and Hasbrouk administered the anesthetics and Dr. Janeway kept a close watch on the patient's pulse and general condition while the sur-gical work was being done.

The President rapidly recovered, but a few weeks later it was found that all of the infected tissue had not been removed, and a second tion was performed, also on

Secrecy Was Maintained. The greatest secrecy was maintained because of a grave financial crisis through which the country was then passing. It was feared that even a rumor as to President Cleveland being ill might cause

As to the after-effects of this operation, Dr. Keen in his article

"After the first operation, while the President was at Gray Gables, Dr. Kasson C. Gibson of New York itted Mr. Cleveland with an artificial jaw of vulcanized rubber. With this in place, his speech was excellent, even its quality not being altered.: On Oct. 14 Mr. Cleveland, in a letter to Dr. Gibson, expressed his lively satisfaction after trying a new and even better and more comfortable plate made by Dr. Gibson.
"Is went to Washington at intervals several times afterward to examine Mr. Cleveland's mouth and never found anything wrong. These brief visits were always a great pleasure, at the time as well as in retrospect, since I made the more inti-mate acquaintance of both the President and Mrs. Cleveland and their

Thinks Secrecy Was Wise.
"Now, after the lapse of nearly a quarter of a century, it is even more evident than it was at the time that the instant decision of Mr. Obveland himself, concurred in by his professional advisers and such friends as Secretary Lamont and Commodore Benedict, to keep the operation a profound secret was wise, and one may say imperative. What the consequences would have been had it become known at once we can only surmise and shudder!

"Mr. Cleveland died June 24, 1908, 15 years after our operations. I was then in Europe. That he should have survived after the removal of a sarcoma of the jaw without local recurrence for so unusually long a period was a great satisfaction to Dr. Bryant and his colleagues."

The people have not seen any appreciable increase of extensions or other improvements in the rolling stock justified in their surprise at the jump of $22,000,000 in valuation in so short a period. Mr. C. E. Smith, who is on the job for the junta, which regards covenants only as scraps of city, explains how this came about.

"In the time that has been available, we coked up all of the information that could be had on the property of the United Rail-ways Company that could be properly inthe time that has been available" is a very poor statement to excuse a possible charge of superficiality. The whole thing was put through in a big hurry and "the time that has been available" was not sufficient to arrive at any just conclusion, either of valuation or the terms of the franchises,

With regard to the pending legislation in New York, I think it is desirable to bear in mind that the Federal Administration can only undertake the control of a few great staples of nonperishable character, with a view to stabilizing interstate traffic, so that, in order to secure the maximum benefits from these arrangements and to serve in the same manner local questions in other communities, it is necessary for States and municipalities to have organizations extending the Federal administration.

To do all things whatsoever expedient for promoting or maintaining the comfort, educa-tion, morals, peace, government, health, welfare, trade, commerce or manufactures of the city or its inhabitants.

The distribution of food, especially milk, on which the city's coming generation depends for its very existence, concerns the comfort and health of the city's inhabitants, and the city must do "whatsoever is expedient" in the matter.

In the plant, organization and experience of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission St. Louis has the nucleus of a municipal milk-handling station, from which could be created a plant that could compete successfully with the private dairies. The babies must be protected, and if the milk handlers refuse to do their duty the city will have to use its charter powers to that end.

THE ARMY OF RECONSTRUCTION.

Behind the regulars, the militia and the new draft forces, is being formed another vast army, an army that carries no guns, wears no uniforms and is led by no brass bands. Yet this army will deserve as well by America as the battalions that cross the seas to bleed and die for the sacred ideals of the country.

It is the army of reconstruction. It is composed of individual units, many of which have no connection with each other, but their aim is the same—to take care of the returning soldier. and to see that he occupies a useful niche in society after the war is over. To those who have traveled in Europe the sight of maimed war veterans begging in the streets or living on various charities is not uncommon. To make such a national blot impossible is the work of the army of

The St. Louis otologists are organizing classes to teach lip reading to those who cannot hear: in addition free treatment will be given to soldiers for whom there is a hope of cure.

This is but an instance. Other organizations are preparing to provide artificial limbs, convalescent homes, positions for the blind and hopelessly maimed. Unit after unit is being added to this army of reconstruction and generations to come will rise to call it blessed

NEWS FROM THE FRONT.

TOOP-HOLE GAP, Ill.—A general fall offensive along the lines indicated by the announcement that milk is to go to $3.50 a hundred was planned by the farmers in this vicinity last night. Fully 200 farmers attended a meeting at the opera house, and every one of them insisted that he needed more money. While no two of them seemed to need more money for the same thing, everybody still needed it and a resolution to get it or feed the milk to the hogs passed with a whoop. Banners bearing such legends as "On to St. Louis!" "They've Got the Money!" and "Damned Be He Who Says Gold Enough!" indicated the temper of the meeting.

HOLSTEIN HOLLOW, Ill.—Uncle Zeph Moore, probably the biggest milk skipper in this county, says the $3.50 rate for milk will have to be accepted by the people of St. Louis or the city will have to go without milk. Uncle Zeph says the farmers have waited for somebody else to put up milk, just as wheat, corn, oats and potatoes have been put up by the commission men and grain gamblers, and that they have finally resolved to do it themselves. Milk is the single farm product on which the farmer is not making a war profit. Uncle Zeph says the farmers don't know of anything anybody in town is still selling to them on the old peace basis, and they can't see why an exception should be made of milk. He made a suggestion that if the people who buy milk from the farmers want milk to go on the peace list, the way to bring that about is to induce the p-ople from whom the farmers buy to put something live sugar and clothing on the same footing. He believes the farmers would meet such a proposal half way. Otherwise, what there is doing is what the little boy shot at. ---

50c A WEEK MICOY-WEBER To Keep Well By Pauline Furlong.

HIS is the season when I receive many letters asking me about the cause and prevention of cold hands and feet, which mean poor circulation of the blood and weak nerves.

This is about the simplest of all ordinary complaints to overcom and the answer is simply deep breathing at all times. Physical exorcises for all parts of the body are also valuable in keeping the hands and feet warm, but deep breathing is the really all-important treatment. This practice, as I have many times told readers, also improves the qual-ity and tone of the blood and thereby all parts of the body are helped

Poor circulation in itself is not nesessarily a dangerous ailment, but a which are not so easily overcome a this one, if taken in time.

The most intelligent treatment is to outline and follow persistently a regular course of daily exercises to strengthen the weakened condition of the nerves and stimulate the action of the blood to all parts of the body, thus warming it.

A sluggish condition of the blood causes the slightest draft to chill the average person, and it is therefore your natural desire to get up a close the window as soon as you feel chilled. As a matter of fact, you should leave the windows open and make it a practice when you feel cold to do something to stimulate .ne circulation throughout the body. For this a few minutes of simple deep-breathing exercises and several bodyending and arm-swinging ones practiced with snappy, determined movements, will bring a warm glow over the body and cause the chilli-N a stew pan put some thin slices less to disappear. # Newand Toothsome Ways to Cook Corn cents at the outside and perhaps 6.90 for more distant points.

A. L. Latterd, meitre d'hotel of the Hotel Plaza, New York, has in vented six new corn dishes, the recipes of which are given here for the first time. Lattard, who is one of the most celebrated chefs in America, is very much interested in making corn dishes popular and thus aiding the work of Food Commissioner Hoover. He has suggested the establishing of an experimental kitchen to investigate new ways of using corn, and pending its establishment he is "doing his bit" by experimenting himself. The new recipes given here are designed especially for home use.

In the fiscal year to March 31, 1917, American beet sugar showed in great detail its cost of production. It figured out at 4.05 cents per pound. This year because of higher prices pair to beets and enlarged labor bills it is probable that all the beet companies will have to meet an increase in cost of production of at least 4 cent per pound. In fact, the 1916-17 increase over that of the previous year was just a trifle over 4 cent per pound in the case of American beet sugar, so that another 4 cent ad-
